In today's session we are watching the World Book Day Live lesson. We will be watching Live with Matilda and Friends which is live streamed from The Cambridge Theatre London. World Book Day Live with Matilda and friends - World Book Day Make sure you have paper and a pencil handy just in case!	In today's session we are planning our newspaper report, all about Skara Brae. We will be writing our report about the discovery of Skara Brae. Using your research from last week you need to plan what you will write in your report. Follow along with the PowerPoint to remind yourself of the key features you will need to include. Then using the planning template, plan your report.	In today's session we will be writing our newspaper report about the discovery of Skara Brae. Work your way through the PowerPoint to remind yourself of the key features you need to include. Then using the newspaper template, write your newspaper report. Don't forget the key features and to include what you have learnt about Skara Brae. We will particularly be focusing on ensuring we are consistently using speech marks correctly.	In today's session we are going to edit our report. First ask someone at home to read through it and give you two stars and a wish? Can you improve your report from the wish they gave you? Then you need to work through the stations editing your report. Make sure you focus on: - Punctuation - Sentence Structure - Word Choices - Spellings - Handwriting Make sure you have included all the key features of a newspaper report.	Work through the PowerPoint to remind you what our editing stations are. Your teacher will send you a copy of your exciting writing that you completed last week. Edit your work and complete each editing station.

Please submit your work through Tapestry.
