

The North Wind and The Sun

Once upon a time, the North Wind and the Sun wanted to have a competition to see who was the strongest. Suddenly, they saw a person coming down the road.

"I've got an idea!" called the Sun. "Whichever one of us can make the person take their coat off is the strongest," said the Sun.

The North Wind blew as hard as it could and it made the person's coat flap around. The person buttoned up their coat and held it close to their body. The North Wind stopped puffing and panting. It gave up because there was nothing more that it could do. "Is it my turn now?" asked the Sun.

The Sun shone gently at first. This made the person relax and unbutton their coat. Then, the Sun shone brighter and hotter. The person took off their coat and put it over their shoulder. Finally, the Sun shone as bright and hot as it could. The person put their coat on the floor so that they could sit on it. "Who is stronger?" asked the Sun.
