

News From Mars Class

Friday 27th November 2015

Hello everyone! What a busy week we have had in Mars. This week there has been a big focus on using and applying phonics skills in lots of different ways. For year 1 this means lots of phonics games that require them to use what they know to complete them. For reception it means using our large magnetic letters to make simple CVC (consonant, vowel, consonant) words and using what we know to sound them out and read the word!

I'm going to apologise now mums and dads, but Christmas has arrived in Mars Class! We love Christmas and so have already started to make some Christmas decorations as well as transform our home corner into something a little more Christmassy...see picture below. Our brand new winter discovery table has also been a big hit. Christmas is on its way!

Best wishes,

Miss Blackburn & Mrs Norman
