

Frequently Asked Questions

Year 1 Home Learning Week Commencing 1st June 2020

Does my child need to complete all of the activities?

Parents can choose the activities they think will work best for their child or children, or they can allow pupils to choose which activities they complete and when. It is anticipated that most children will complete most activities during the two weeks.

Should I mark my child's work?

You don't need to give formal marking, but it is always helpful to chat and give feedback! You could ask them:

"What went well?"

"How could you make it even better?"

"What would you do differently next time?"

What if my child has already done this Espresso activity?

Some children may have logged in to try different activities already! If this happens, they can browse Espresso and find a different activity to try instead.

What if I don't have a laptop or device available for my child?

RE: Can you read the story of Moses in the Bible? It can be found at:

DT: Here are some examples of what the milk carton elephants will look like.

Remember the children are making African elephants so they should cover them in paper mache (diluted glue and newspaper) before painting them grey. If you don't have glue try using a wet flour mix or just painting them!

Phonics: Use your phonics packs to re-cap phase 5 sounds (these are the ones on the blue sound mats). Ask your child to identify the different graphemes that make the same sound focussing on o_e and oe (phase 5). Can they make a list of words containing each of the sounds?

PE: YouTube is available on some smart TVs. However, if they can't watch Joe Wicks, can they make up their own workout? Perhaps they can teach it to mum, dad, or a sibling!

Science: Plants need:

Plant growth

Plants need air, light, warmth, water and nutrients to be healthy.

If they are healthy, they can continue making their own food through photosynthesis.

Most healthy plants are upright with green leaves.

How do I access phonics play?

Phonics play is currently free go to: <https://new.phonicsplay.co.uk>

Username: march20

Password: home