Extension:

Syllables are the sounds that make up a word.
Each syllable makes a sound of its own. All syllables contain a vowel sound.

window is pronounced win / dow. It has two vowel sounds and so two syllables.

The two vowel sounds are underlined.

Make a table in your book like the one below.
Write each word from the box under the correct heading.

one syllable	two syllables	three syllables	four syllables year different near disappointed	usually unhappy altogether paper	why sure often uncertain	woken walking started sometimes those still
